Environmental Policy

To ensure responsible environmental stewardship, McCosker Contracting Pty Ltd (McCosker) is committed to taking all reasonably practicable actions to:

- Comply with all applicable environmental legislation, regulations, and legal obligations;
- Establish, implement, and continually review an Environmental Management System (EMS) that incorporates relevant standards, processes, and procedures;
- Foster a culture of sustainable environmental management by:
- Raising employee awareness and engagement through targeted training and instruction;
- Implementing initiatives focused on energy efficiency and sustainable practices;
- Develop and apply strategies to reduce emissions and energy consumption through economically viable improvement programs;
- Actively explore and consider the adoption of alternative energy sources and low-emission technologies as they become financially feasible;
- Collaborate with suppliers, customers, subcontractors, and joint venture partners to promote and enhance environmental sustainability practices;
- Manage waste responsibly by prioritising reduction, reuse, and recycling to minimise landfill impact;
- Evaluate the effectiveness of the EMS through regular audits, inspections, and site observations;
- Work respectfully with Australia's Traditional Owners to help protect and preserve the natural habitats of native flora and fauna..

McCosker is committed to exceeding compliance by continuously improving our operations and environmental outcomes. We drive sustainable governance through efficient resource use, pollution prevention, responsible procurement, and waste minimisation.

It is a requirement of McCosker that environment objectives and targets shall be set for all projects and premises. These objectives shall be reviewed regularly to address environmental requirements and concerns of clients, the community, landholders and interested parties. As McCosker achieves improved levels of effectiveness the goals will be updated to further advance our environmental performance.
